

SENATORS OF THE UNITED STATES

1789-2003

A chronological list of senators from the

First Congress to the 108th Congress

Prepared under the direction of Gary Sisco, Secretary of the Senate by the Senate Historical Office

United States Senate

Administrations come and go, Houses assemble and disperse, Senators change, but the Senate is always there in the Capitol, and always organized, with an existence unbroken since 1789. Henry Cabot Lodge, 1903.

Dear Senator:

Senator Henry Cabot Lodge stands among the most astute of the Senate's twentieth-century observer-participants. In the quotation noted above, he captures the fundamental continuity of this singular legislative body. On September 30, 1788, Pennsylvania became the first state to elect its United States senators. Since that distant election of William Maclay and Robert Morris, the states of this nation have similarly honored nearly 1,900 Americans. As Senator Lodge suggests, the most recently elected member shares a direct kinship with the entire line back to Senators Maclay and Morris. This book is intended to remind current senators of that lineage by listing all members in the order in which they arrived. Each senator has been assigned a number to reflect his or her rank at the time of initial election. Up-to-date biographical information for all of these senators is available at <http://bioguide.congress.gov>.

We hope that this list of predecessors and colleagues will both inform and inspire you.

Sincerely,

Tom Daschle
Democratic Leader

Trent Lott
Majority Leader

SENATORS' ORDER OF SERVICE *

* Beginning with the election of 1958, Senators are listed according to commencement of first Senate term by seniority (determined by former service in order as senator, vice president, House member, cabinet secretary, governor, and then by state population). The opening of a second Senate office building in 1958 provided members a greater selection of office suites. Eligibility for the most desirable suites was determined by the above-described seniority system. Prior to 1958, senators whose terms began on the same day are listed here alphabetically, rather than by seniority. The compilers of this list have been unable to determine when the Senate instituted this seniority ranking system for purposes of office assignment, but see no useful purpose served by artificially imposing that system on the pre-1958 era.

TOTAL NUMBER OF SENATORS, 1789 TO PRESENT = 1,875

⁴ John Cornyn's rank is 1873, but he entered Congress during the 107th. See footnote 9.
